

creative, fun and stimulating music classes

Little Hummingbirds is the home of adventurous, interactive and fun-filled music and movement classes for babies, toddlers & pre-school children in and around West-London.

We offer the following classes:

Baby Music Classes

Our classes for your smallest ones are all about baby babble, sing-song, listening time, instrumental exploration, movement and sensory experiences, interaction and creative independence. Drawing upon a baby's innate musicality, their language acquisition, physical and psychological development will benefit from music classes early on.

Toddler Music Classes

Our toddler music classes celebrate their independency, letting them explore, discover and take ownership of something new, following Maria Montessori's "Help me do it by myself" approach.

Activities are connected by a meaningful theme to grab their interest and attention and include call and response songs, lots of instrumental play, musical commands to discover pitch, tempo and dynamics and easy dances for motor perception and social interaction.

Pre-School Music Classes

Our music classes for pre-school children are based on the EYFS guidelines and not only promote musical learning but also benefit all other key EYFS areas through counting games, rhymes and rhythmical playing, exploring different sounds, improvising songs and making up own verses, using descriptive language to talk about music, exploring pitch and different ways of speaking and singing, dancing and playing instruments with control, learning about celebrations and many, many more.
